

Caribbean Archaeology and Ethnohistory Series

L. Antonio Curet, Series Editor

This series makes available leading scholarship on archaeology, linguistics, and ethnohistory throughout the Caribbean basin. Volumes in the series include single-authored books or edited collections addressing results of archaeological excavations and syntheses conducted in the region by an international array of distinguished scholars. The series also offers reprints of classic Caribbean studies.

See the full series offerings at <http://www.uapress.ua.edu> (search by series).

Series Editor L. Antonio Curet is actively seeking manuscripts to include in the series. He can be contacted at lacuret@gmail.com.

Senior Acquisitions Editor for The University of Alabama Press Wendi Schnaufer (wschnaufer@uapress.ua.edu)

THE UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA® PRESS