

Guidelines for Book Proposals

The University of Alabama Press welcomes book proposals for scholarly and trade manuscripts that fit within our publishing program. Please visit our website (uapress.ua.edu), consult our catalogs, or contact an acquisitions editor to see whether your project is a good match for our list.

To submit a book proposal, please supply the following to the appropriate acquisitions editor:

- a cover letter
- a prospectus including
 - a brief narrative description of your book manuscript and its main subject or area of concern, and a clear statement concerning your principal argument
 - a brief account of how your manuscript fits into recently published scholarship in your field, including, if convenient, a brief literature review
 - a discussion of its intended or anticipated audience/s
 - a tentative table of contents, ideally annotated
 - the length or anticipated length of the manuscript, in word count
 - the number or anticipated number of illustrations, if any
 - a list of 5–10 comparable titles (with author, publisher, pub year) published in the last five years
 - the names of five scholars with whom you do not have a close relationship who are qualified to comment on or peer review your work and why
 - the anticipated date of completion if your work is still in progress
 - if the book project has its origins as a dissertation, please state when and where your dissertation was completed, whether it is available online and at what URL, and how your book will differ from the dissertation
- a curriculum vitae
- an introduction and/or a sample chapter or two

Please submit your proposal materials via email attachment.

Acquisitions Contacts

Daniel Waterman

Editor-in-Chief, Humanities waterman@uapress.ua.edu

Claire Lewis Evans

Senior Acquisitions Editor for Southern History, History of Science, Natural History, and the Environment
cevens@uapress.ua.edu

Wendi Schnauffer

Senior Acquisitions Editor for Anthropology and Archaeology, Latin American and Caribbean Studies, Native American Studies and Ethnohistory, and Food Studies
wschnauffer@uapress.ua.edu

Pete Beatty

Assistant Acquisitions Editor for American Studies, Music, Sports and Sports History, and Creative Nonfiction and Memoir
pbeatty@uapress.ua.edu